Regional Board To Study Tourist Promotion Request

A request by the Okanagan-Similkameen Tourist Association to help promote tourism in the Central Okanagan region will be studied by the regional board.

Last month the association recommended the regional board provide grants for groups promoting tourism, or that it ask for letters patent enabling it to look after tourist promotion, thus becoming eligible for $1 per resident from the B.C. government.

The B.C. travel industry department pays 60 per cent of the advertising budget, leaving the association to pay the rest. The administration and finance committee suggested further study, and requesting electoral area advisory planning commissions for recommendations.

Four measures that could improve recreation facilities in the Westbank area were taken Wednesday night.

Since the Canadian Pacific Railway has stopped barge service on Lake Okanagan, the company is giving up a lease on foreshore property. Assistant regional administrator R. V. Haggstrom reported on a meeting held with people from the area to discuss future uses of the land.

PARK PLAN

At the meeting, S. G. Saunders, chairman of the provincial Class C parks board, said he will apply to the provincial lands, forests and water resources department to lease the property for a park. The board agreed to support this.

The Westside Parks and Recreation Committee, representing the Lakeview Heights and Westbank areas, wants to develop recreation facilities on two Crown-owned lots. The B.C. municipal affairs department will be asked for comments.

Crown Zellerbach (Canada) Ltd. will be asked to let the board have the first chance to buy the Bear Creek ranch delta if the company decided to sell. Regional board chairman W. C. Bennett said this would be ideal for a regional park or government campsite.

Last month C.Z. representative E. Dunlop told the administration and finance committee there are no long-range plans for the area, the company realizes the land will appreciate in value and is ideal for recreation, so does not plan to construct buildings or destroy the aesthetic value.

On request of D. A. Pritchard, Lakeview Heights representative, the board will seek more information on plans for a marina on the Westbank Indian Reserve.

DOCK STRIKE

U.K. Declares Emergency

LONDON (Reuter) — The Queen signed a proclamation today calling for a 28-day state of emergency to safeguard essential supplies threatened by Britain's seven-day national port strike.

The emergency period starts at midnight tonight. The action followed warnings from agricultural chiefs that the country might soon face a shortage of foodstuffs for farm animals, especially pigs and poultry.

Government ministers hope the dock strike may be resolved by early next week. But precautionary steps were taken because the emergency regulations must be approved by Parliament, which recesses next week.

This was the fourth state of emergency proclaimed since Prime Minister Edward Heath came to office in June, 1970, and the eighth since the Second World War.

Vernon Captures Parade Award

Capt. Vancouver Colors It Gay

Harvey Rourke of Vancouver, added a touch of historic color to the official crowning ceremony at the opening night of Kelowna's 66th International Regatta. In his regalia as Captain Vancouver, the public relations officer for B.C. Tel, pursued a lengthy scroll, as he officiated for the ceremony, during which Lady of the Lake Wendy Nichols passed her crown and royal purple velvet robes to her successor, Lindsay Ritchie.

Miss Nichols, in her retirement speech, said she had mixed emotions about her past year, mostly of great happiness and joy. She paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burchell, with whom she makes her home in Kelowna, for their understanding and love and she thanked publicly her employers, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cooper, for their co-operation during the past year.

She also expressed her faith in the new Lady of the Lake, saying, "I know Lindsay will do a super job."

Princesses Trudy Walker in her retiring speech, after passing her tiara and cape to her successor Donna Mae Hamilton, welcomed everyone to the 66th annual Regatta and also said she had experienced a memorable year; at the same time expressing appreciation to Miss Nichols for the warm friendship they had shared. She also wished Lindsay and Donna all the best. Miss Walker, who will represent Kelowna in the Miss PNE contest this year, pledged to do her best for this beautiful city.

Honorary Vice-Commodore Grant Herrington, general manager, on behalf of Rothmans of Western Canada, presented cheques to the new regatta and in his excitement mixed up the names of the two princesses. He quickly righted it and wound up with his reward, a kiss from the new Lady of the Lake.

The new Lady of the Lake and her Princess were considerably more confident and calm than they were on proclamation night. Miss Ritchie thanked the director of regatta, Mrs. Donna Hilborn and candidate coordinator, Mrs. Barbie Ross and assured her fellow candidates she shared her title with them. She promised to "do my best to represent Kelowna, with a big happy smile. Have a happy smile everyone."

Miss Hamilton also expressed appreciation to Mrs. Hilborn and Mrs. Ross and made special mention of her parents and of the support from her sponsors, the Kiwanis Club. Captain Vancouver also introduced the visiting "royalty," who came from Burnaby Kitimat, Kamloops, Lumby, Nanaimo, Revelstoke, Surrey, Penticton, Rutland, Vernon, Miss PNE and Wenatchee, Wash. Previously he had introduced the remaining 10 candidates in the Kelowna 1972 contest, so that the audience could have a glimpse of the lovely array of charm.

Serving as pages were two little excited girls, Junie and Susan Morrow, who had the pleasure of presenting bouquets of roses to the retiring royalty. Mayor Hilbert Roth also had the pleasant duty of proclaiming Miss Nichols as Miss Kelowna 1972 and after pinning the banner on the former Miss Snowmobile, he also "blessed" the retiring royalty.

Mayor Roth officially welcomed everyone to the Regatta earlier in the evening during the opening ceremonies by director-general Ev McKee. His Worship thanked all the volunteers who give so many thousands of hours during the year to make the Regatta a reality.

Float Brings Wintery Touch To Kelowna's Summer Heat

By DEAN MCNULTY
Courier Staff

The grand prize winner in the 66th Annual Kelowna International Regatta Parade was the Winter Carnival Float from Vernon. The float was resplendent in the blues and whites of winter with Queen Silver Star Shelly Madynski and her princess Mary Wysota reigning over the land of ice and snow.

The float was a joint venture of the Winter Carnival Committee and the City of Vernon. It stretched out magnificently in front and tapered off to the back giving the impression of a clear blue pond frozen over by the winds of winter. The upper part of the float decorated in snow white carried Queen Silver Star and the princess who stood in front. The work on the float was deserving of the grand prize for just watching on glass.

It goes by made you feel a little wintery.

The commercial entry of Pottery's Distillery from Langley easily out-teamed its rivals for top honors in that division. Eight magnificent Clydesdales marching with the precision of an army drill team the Potter wagon wound its way through the parade causing excitement and wonder at every corner. The horses, together with the wagon and van used to transport them cost more than $100,000.

The team of Clydesdales represent the only black eight high team in Canada and is only one of three in the whole of North America. The team is considered young by horse standards, running between three and six years old. The big black horses each weigh in the area of a ton and net sometimes as if they were walking on glass.

Up Into The Wild Blue Yonder

The winner of the first prize for a float entered by a community went to Connel Washington and the North Franklin Festival. The theme of the float was Up, Up and Away, with a mini-hallion holding a pretty young miss who seemed ready to enter the wild blue yonder. Also on the float were the North Franklin Festival Queen, Margie Fox and her Princesses, Pam Quilon and Holly Lee.

Picking up second prize in the community division of the parade was an international entry from Royal City in Washington.

The float carried the Royal City Queen, Karen Christensen and Princesses Susan Rox and Alice Heidy. Presented by the Royal Slope Chamber of Commerce the float was called "A picture of Royalty", and indeed it was.

Dressed in the purples and whites of royalty the Royal City Queen and her two princesses glided along the parade route on top of the mountains of color making up the float.

The Orchard Park Ocean Gallery filled with the wonders of 18th century dreams floated its way to the second prize in the commercial division of the parade.

The Kelowna and District Jaycees, who sponsored the parade, said today they were well pleased with the results of the big show. The Jaycees have sponsored the event for the past 15 years.

Troops Brace In Ulster

BELFAST (CP) — A terrorist bomb planted on a country road killed a British soldier today as security forces braced for a vengeance offensive by the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

He was the first soldier slain since the British Army invaded IRA strongholds in Northern Ireland Monday in a bid to destroy guerrilla havens.

The army believes the resulting lull in IRA operations is about to be shattered by a new drive to reassert the guerrilla authority within Ulster's minority Roman Catholic population.

Politicians Speed About

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Promises to northerners, Indians and farmers were heard Wednesday amid the thunder of political invective as leaders of British Columbia's four major parties continued their campaign for the Aug. 30 provincial election.

Social Credit Premier W. A. C. Bennett took time out from blasting the "radical" New Democratic Party and the "racist" Liberals of the Conservative Party to give more details of a proposed coal mining development for Chetwynd and provide a hint that a major development is in store for Dawson Creek.

NDP Leader Dave Barrett took a crack at deputy travel minister R. B. Worley's alleged involvement with a film promoting the Soereds and promised to take Crown-granted land away from a forest company to correct the "mess" created in the community of Houston by the government's "stupid, centralized, unthinking decisions."

BULLETIN
KAMLOOPS, (CP) — A coroner's jury investigating the death of Chicomil Indian Fred Quilt today returned an open verdict without assessing blame after more than 10 hours of deliberation.

The verdict clears the RCMP of any direct blame in the death of Mr. Quilt, who died at Williams Lake last Nov. 30 two days after being removed from a stalled truck by RCMP officers.

U.S. Senate Cuts Off War Funds

For the first time in its history of growing resistance to the Vietnam war, the U.S. Senate has voted to cut off funds for future military involvement in Indochina. In a series of votes in Washington Wednesday night, Senate doves maintained a razor-thin majority to deliver a major slap against the Nixon administration's Vietnam policies despite intensive lobbying by its supporters. The legislation cuts off funds for future American involvement in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos four months after it becomes law.

Three days of freedom has netted a 29-year-old prisoner at Oakalla another four months at the Burnaby institution. Rodney Clifford Clayed was sentenced an extra four months Wednesday in Surrey for his July 25 escape. He fled a work gang and was not caught until three days later.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said in Vancouver Wednesday that plans for development of a new coal deposit in the Chetwynd area would bring $250 million to British Columbia Railway over a 20-year period.

Graeme Roberts, 41, a car dealer, was nominated Wednesday night to contest the Nanaimo riding for the Progressive Conservatives in the Aug. 30 provincial election. The riding is represented by Frank Ney, Social Credit.

In St. Catharines, Ont., Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield combined ceremony with campaigning Wednesday as he presided over the opening of the Royal Canadian Henley Regatta. Mr. Stanfield said Canadians should become more involved in athletics.

The failure Wednesday of a second attempt by the United States to extradite Humberto

Pagan Hernandez means the fate of the young Puerto Rican student rests with Immigration Minister Bryce Mackase, in Ottawa. The dismissal of a U.S. appeal by the Federal Court of Canada ends that country's legal attempts to bring Pagan to its Caribbean territory where he is charged with murder.

In Upper Marlboro, Md., a diary that indicates President Nixon was the original target for assassination, presumably while on a Canadian visit, continued as the central point of the trial of Arthur Bremer, accused assassin of Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

Aides to Senator George McGovern quizzed Senator Thomas Eagleton on topics ranging from business dealings to alcohol prior to his selection as the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, the Baltimore Sun says. McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee, and his aides had been criticized for failing to scrutinize the background of the No. 2 man on the ticket.

The six-man coroner's jury investigating the Nov. 30 death of Chilcotin Indian Fred Quill began its deliberations Wednesday in Kamloops, 17 days after the start of the second inquest into the death.

Police Chief Dismissed

MONTREAL (CP) — Jean-Jacques Saulnier, Montreal police chief, was relieved of his duties and given a five-month leave with pay Wednesday, three weeks after a provincial police commission ruled he was "incompetent."

The Montreal Urban Community security council announced the leave in a short statement, saying the decision was taken at Mr. Saulnier's request and on the advice of Rene Daigneault, director of the integrated police force.

Mr. Daigneault will temporarily take over Mr. Saulnier's duties.

The Quebec Police Commission recommended July 13 that Mr. Saulnier's position be re-evaluated after holding a public inquiry into his conduct as head of the Montreal morality squad in the 1960's.

The commission's report cleared him of six charges of corruption but said he was not competent to lead Montreal's 4,122-man force.

CAPTAIN COLORS IT GAY

He also introduced the Honorary Commodore for Regatta '72, Commodore Roy Victor Henning of Esquimalt and honorary vice-commodores, Donald McDougall, Murray McWhirter and Grant Herrington, all of Vancouver and R. L. Walker, J. Robbins and Bruce Howard, MP for Okanagan Boundary riding.

Comedian Howard Hardin, as master of ceremonies, handled the mike duties for the entertainment which followed.

In spite of a cool breeze and choppy waters, the synchronized swimmers from both Norway and California, managed to headline the night show. Nina Aas, Norwegian synchronized swimming champion from Oslo, was like a Viking goddess in her solo water ballet number and when joined later on by Ann Kristin Thorvaldsen, Anne Norlund and Ann Karl Storch, the girls added precision formations to their itinerary.

The Santa Clara Aquamats, who arrived at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday from California to take part in the water show, in true trooper spirit took the plunge into a wavy pool as if they had been swimming in the lake every day instead of the first time. Their championship skills in both North American and European water competitions were evident in their ballet number. In hot pink one-piece swimsuits with matching head pieces, the maids were appreciated by the audience.

Back again after its successful introduction here last year was the Rothman's legging show with the Herring brothers of Sooke, B.C. Paul, 13 years and Steve, 15 years, tangled first with Steve sticking to the slippery log a few seconds longer. Mike Herring, 16, also challenged Paul with the latter the victor and young Darny, 12 years, played the trumpet while spinning the elusive lumber in the water.

Veteran Art Williams again tangled in the act with Mike Herring. All of the log rollers are champions in both Canadian events and at world log rolling tests at Hayward, Wisconsin.

In the Salute to the Pacific theme in recognition of Kelowna's honor city for the 66th annual International Regatta, Hobart, Tasmania, The Regal Tahitians, featuring the Moorea drum dancers, brought exciting and colorful wild rhythmic dancers to the stage.

The Seoul Kittens, one of the finest musical aggregations ever to come from the Westernized section of the Orient, South Korea, and specifically the city of Seoul, lived up to the advances and a wild competition of drumming culminated a variety of versatile talents by the five young people.

Arctic Waters Now Protected

By JOHN HARBOR
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Canada's Arctic Waters Pollution Prevention Act, introduced into Parliament in the summer of 1970, now is law. It is basically an anti-pollution measure to protect our Arctic waters from future damage by a super-tanker spilling oil into northern waters.

But its punitive clauses, large fines for oil spills and Arctic waters surveillance, definitely point to a new and tougher direction for future Canadian foreign policy.

In the same month Admiral Sergei Gorskov, Soviet naval commander-in-chief, boasted no enemy warship is now safe from his huge fleet. Canada is beginning to replace its traditional anti-submarine surveillance role for a legislative one to protect the Canadian ocean environment.

The traditional ASW (anti-submarine warfare) role will, of course, continue for some time, implemented by our modernized destroyer escorts and the four super ASW destroyer helicopters to be commissioned this year and in early 1973.

CHANGE BY 1980
But in the very long run, say by 1980, and at such increasingly important maritime meetings as the 1973 International Law of the Sea Conference, Canadian foreign policy will be concerned almost not at all with ASW warfare, but entirely with anti-pollution warfare in the oceans of the world.

And Canada, we must remember, is one of the world's few three-ocean countries.

This shift from a naval to an environmental surveillance of Canadian oceans will continue even if the Trudeau Liberals which instituted it, are overthrown by a new government.

During Mr. Diefenbaker's years in power (1957-1963), it was Alvin Hamilton, as former northern affairs minister, and still a powerful Tory, who made public statements about Canadian Arctic waters' sovereignty.

These have been used as part of the justification for Prime Minister Trudeau's Arctic policy as defined by his legal aide, Dr. Ivan Head, a former international law professor who developed the new Arctic anti-pollution act.

If the act is ever implemented, it won't be against the traditional Russian adversary at sea, but against a friendly Western maritime power using super tankers to carry oil through the Northwest Passage.

Or more succinctly against the United States.

SEEM NOW UNLIKELY
At present, it seems unlikely huge quantities of either Alaskan or newly-found Canadian Arctic oil are going to move through the Arctic.

Some of it will go overland, via Mackenzie River oil pipeline about to be built. And U.S. Alaskan oil will go via a West coast super-tanker route, against which both the prime minister and Mitchell Sharp, secretary of state for foreign affairs, have officially protested.

The U.S. recognizes our Northwest Passage as international waters. The Trudeau government has shrewdly not challenged this directly. However, the new anti-pollution bill in effect declares our sovereignty over the passage since its clauses apply to all waters above the 60th parallel and within 100 miles of any Canadian shoreline.

This is why juridical decisions by Ottawa, rather than an increase in naval resources which we cannot afford against such vast seapower as the Russians have in the Atlantic and Pacific, will be a measure of our future foreign policy.

Thumping Of Kangaroos Replaced By Sounds Of Excavations, Trucks

NHULUNBUY, Australia (Reuters) — A North Australian wilderness that for thousands of years has heard only the thumping of kangaroos now resounds to excavators and trucks at a giant bauxite mine.

A $362.5-million Swiss-Australian aluminium project is tapping a proven reserve of 250 million tons of the rich red mineral.

Located on the Gove peninsula, 400 miles east of Darwin, the project was conceived after mineral leases were granted seven years ago.

Last year, Aborigines from the nearby Yirralakla mission claimed ownership of all the land covered by the mineral lease. The Northern Territory Supreme Court ruled they had no claim, but said the evidence showed "clans belong to the land."

Despite the loss of the court case, the Aborigines from the mission will receive royalties from the Gove project.

The partners—a group of Australian companies and Swiss Aluminium of Zurich—have estimated that within a few years they will be paying more than $1 billion annually.

In recent weeks, the Aborigines in the area have indicated that they will seek a mining lease to cover all the Gove peninsula, except the 400 square miles held by the Gove partners.

The 250 million tons of bauxite can supply the aluminium plant

Aerobics Gain Some Foes In World Of Exercisers

TORONTO (CP) — Aerobics, a new program of running and jogging to improve heart and lung capacity, has supplanted the world-famous Royal Canadian Air Force 5BX and 10BX exercises in the armed services.

Since last February the sit-ups, push-ups, lateral bends and leg raises of the BX exercises have been replaced by aerobics, now the minimum standard that all armed forces personnel must meet.

However, because the different programs emphasize different skills and the development of different parts of the body, individual commands are supplementing aerobics with the original fitness programs in some cases.

"A soldier trained with aerobics would be able to run all day, but might not be able to pull himself out of a trench because his arms are weak," Lieut. Gregory Pearson of the Downsview Armed Forces Base said in an interview.

Could have attack
"Similarly a weighlifter could have a heart attack climbing a flight of stairs because his arms are strong but his heart is weak."

Designed by a United States doctor, Kenneth Cooper, aerobics concentrates on pumping oxygen into tissue cells instead of building muscles, as the BX exercises do.

To meet the new armed forces standards, men must be able to run 1 1/2 miles in 12 minutes if they are under 30, in 13 minutes up to 39, and in 14 minutes if they are between 40 and 45.

An Alcoholic: How To Spot Him

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Council on Alcoholism has established for the first time a set of medical criteria to help doctors determine whether a drinker is an alcoholic.

The council, a voluntary United States health agency, says that only about one out of every 300 physicians is capable of accurately diagnosing the problem.

"There is no single symptom, laboratory test or physical sign which is itself specifically diagnostic of alcoholism," Dr. Samuel C. Kaim told a news conference Tuesday.

Kaim headed a 14-member committee that drew up the criteria after a year's study. They set the major criteria for diagnosing alcoholism include:

—Withdrawal symptoms—gross tremor, hallucination, seizure or delirium tremens when deprived of alcohol.

—Abnormal tolerance for alcohol, indicated by the failure to appear intoxicated despite high blood levels of alcohol.

—Continued drinking despite strong medical advice not to or such social reasons as the loss of job or breakup of marriage.

—Daily consumption of 26 ounces of whisky or an alcoholic equivalent of wine or beer.

Among the minor criteria are such physical disorders as irregular heartbeat and behavior patterns such as gulping drinks, drinking on the fly, morning drinking and drinking to relieve anger, insomnia or depression.

Major symptoms can be diagnostic by themselves, the council said. Significant combination of the minor criteria would also suffice for a diagnosis of alcoholism, it said.

Anybody Want Flat Cans?

VICTORIA (CP) — A city recycling group is temporarily stuck with a railway car loaded with 26 tons of flattened tin cans it spent 18 months collecting for shipment to Seattle for recycling.

Project Recycle was informed at the weekend that its cargo, due to leave today for the U.S., cannot leave Canada because the correct customs procedures had not been followed.

Spokesman Ted Knowles, 28, said Sunday the group had asked customs about a month ago for the forms it would need to ship the cans.

"We filled out dozens of forms, but now they (customs) say we didn't fill out the right ones."

The form they are missing is an export permit which needs approval from Ottawa, said Godfrey Catherwood, district chief of port operations.

Mr. Knowles said the cans are being shipped to M and T Chemicals Ltd. in Seattle because there is no company in western Canada which fully recycles them.

He said the group, which is working on a $12,000 Opportunity for Youth grant, also collects almost every kind of paper, cardboard, plastic containers and glass. The paper and cardboard is recycled in Vancouver and glass is crushed and sent to Burnaby.

Women must run the distance in 13 minutes if they are under 30, in 14 minutes if they are 30 to 39, and in 15 minutes if they are between 40 and 45.

Under the armed forces standards the running tests must be taken twice a year. Persons who fail must take a compulsory running or jogging course until they pass.

A book by Dr. Cooper, which explains the basis of the aerobics system, warns against persons over 40 trying to run the distance too fast. The aerobics program is one of progressive conditioning.

Short Takes

Desperate people clutch at straws. Dave Anderson, Liberal leader, and Frank Snowsall, NDP candidate, over the weekend sounded off about the need to cancel B.C. Hydro parity bonds as they had all been sold. For the politicians information we can report that the one ad we had scheduled for Monday had been cancelled last week. And as for a check indicating that no bonds could be bought, we know of one reader who on Friday bought the bonds. No the word "bought" is wrong. That should have read "was sold" as the reader was approached by a salesman who was selling the bonds. Not sure how much was available but the reader had no difficulty in obtaining all he could afford. Obviously you could buy bonds on Friday locally. You even did not have to look for them.

Too long unnoticed is the terrific job of landscaping that Walkers Distillery has done. At the sod-turning ceremony about two years ago I well remember a look around at the hot, dry, dusty, burned up area sprinkled with mangy pines. While it was stated at the ceremony the plant would be well landscaped no one thought it would turn out as it has. The words that day were an understatement. Today the area is covered with lush, well-mowed grass. A good many of the trees were preserved and to do this, if the underground piping would interfere with the root structure of a tree, they bent the pipes around the tree. Today, whether because of regular watering or because they have been fed, the trees themselves look quite different from what they did two years ago. Four men are kept busy looking after the grounds in the summer and in the winter snow clearing and other such winter jobs. For the first time in my life I saw a planted lawn between the rails of a railway siding and being watered. And there are flower beds. I remember particularly a very large bed of petunias in three huge blocks—blue, white and red. (I assume that as you looked at them the fact that they made a French flag was purely accidental and unmediated!) Persons who think that an industrial plant has to be an ugly and dirty place should have a look at the Walker plant, even from Joe Bailey Road. It is a pleasure. It is a credit to this area, any area. It is a shame that, because of the merchandise the plant produces, the righteous laws of our province do not permit the company to have regular conducted tours. The plant itself is an eye-opener and many people would be fascinated by all the tricky automation gadgets. It is the second largest distillery in the Commonwealth and is serving the three western Canadian provinces, Alaska and the western United States. In addition to a dozen regular brands, did you know that the local plant is turning out three types of liqueurs, one very new one which is selling very well indeed, thank you. But, anyway, next time you are out for a drive go along Joe Bailey Road and take a look at the Walker plant—and the grounds.

One cannot help but feel a little sorry for erstwhile U.S. vice-presidential candidate Senator Eagleton. He was so enthusiastic about his selection that his "withdrawal" must have been a deep blow. Yet, one cannot blame the Democrats or the American people who expressed their concern about his health. Certainly voters have a legitimate interest in the general health, physical and mental, of any presidential or vice-presidential candidate. Any man who has had psychiatric treatment must be suspect. Had McGovern and Eagleton been elected and had something happened to cause the death of McGovern, Eagleton would have become president and the United States would have been in a parlous position. Imagine the pressures unfriendly powers, knowing the chief executive of the U.S. was subject to mental breakdowns, would have brought against that country! The people of the U.S. with plenty of internal problems, could not take that chance. The presidency is a tough job even for a man in the best of health. We have seen too many presidents wither away while in office. And to deliberately put a sick man in that position could end in disaster. For his own and his country's good, it is better that Eagleton should suffer disappointment, great though it may be.

Bicycle Paths In City

(Galt Reporter)

Now that you've joined the bicycle boom and bought your 10-speed beauty, where do you ride it? This matter is of concern in many cities and a "hot" issue in nearby Kitchener.

Four young people in Hamilton area have tackled that problem—with a $5,085 grant under the federal government's Opportunities for Youth Program.

Bob Russell, a 21-year-old college sociology student, and his friends are spending the summer building a case for bicycle paths in that city, which has so far not established any.

"Before you get bicycle routes, you have to justify them," Russell says. "So we are spending a lot of our time showing there is an actual need."

Part of the case-building process is a survey of Hamilton bicycle retailers to get an idea of the number of bicycles moving into the community.

The message received is that the bike boom is expanding, not decreasing.

"Just about every place we've been to has already surpassed or equalled sales for the whole of last year," Russell says.

The group is also doing an origin-destination study to find out where Hamilton cyclists start from and go to and what route they take to get there.

Both these independent studies, linked with allied information and experience from other places and sources, will, the project people hope, present a compelling argument to municipal authorities.

"We don't want to work all summer on a plan just to have it all shelved," Russell says. "We not only want to produce a good plan, but get it acted on."

Russell says it's an uphill battle to try to convince municipal authorities of the need to recognize the status of the bicycle as an instrument of travel and recreation in roughly the same manner as the motor car.

In the light of this fact, the group has modest specific objectives.

"Even if we could get signs up on certain city streets designating them bicycle routes, that would be something," Russell says.

Community Relations Can Aid Work Of Policemen, Says Chief

CALGARY (CP) — Crime prevention through community relations is the philosophy of Charles R. Gain, chief of police in Oakland, Calif., who was named head of the Calgary force Tuesday.

The selection by the police commission after a three-month search sparked varying reactions from aldermen, citizens, police and the new chief.

"There will be some organizational shock and some degree of resistance and then I am sure the men will close ranks and support me," said the 48-year-old chief.

Chief Gain instituted sweeping changes in the Oakland department last November which resulted in a non-confidence vote. A reporter with the Oakland Tribune told a Calgary news paper that the vote presided over by the police officers' association saw 375 men of a total of 496 who cast votes support the motion.

Chief Gain, who never carries a gun, implemented pioneer programs of community-police involvement and respect for citizen's constitutional rights, which apparently caused the Oakland force to feel he was "too soft."

But a national magazine article last December said the chief had turned the Oakland force from "one of the toughest, toughest, and generally unloved of any in the nation to... a near paragon of police virtue."

The non-confidence motion asked Chief Gain to retire next month, but he said he wouldn't. However, he takes over the Calgary force effective Sept. 4.

"We wanted a local man, but the police force is founded on discipline and there will be no complaints from inside the force," said a Calgary senior officer. "We welcome this man and will work for him."

Mayor Rod Sykes said the commission had "more than filled its mandate" in selecting Chief Gain, adding "he has a brilliant record."

But some aldermen weren't pleased with the choice. "I am appalled that the commission should choose someone other than a Canadian," said Ald. Adrian Berry. "Such a decision is, to me, against all good principles of local and national interest."

Ald. Berry said he would speak to Attorney-General Merv Leitch, asking him to veto the appointment and remove all police commission members.

Mr. Leitch said later he could exercise the power to veto only if there was an indication that inadequate policy would result from the appointment.

He added: "It's primarily a local matter; it's our policy not to interfere with local matters."

Bankruptcy Of Charter Firms Leaves Many Stranded In U.K.

TORONTO (CP) — About 2,000 North Americans are stranded in Britain because of five bankruptcies in the charter flight business and because British charter firms will not honor their return vouchers, a Toronto charter organizer said today.

Bruno Gonthier of the Ontario Overseas Services says of those stranded "in excess of 1,000 persons are Canadians" and they are finding difficulty because the British authorities are sticking to the rule that they must be members of a club for six months in order to arrange an alternative flight.

He also said Air Canada flights home are booked until Aug. 10.

Mr. Gonthier said his estimate comes from requests for seats from charter firms in Britain and elsewhere. He said his firm's London agent is flooded with calls, but added "there is nothing we can do." "It would take at least eight DC-3 stretch planes to solve this and the British government would have to overlook the affinity rule (which requires six-months' membership in a bona fide club)," he said.

Mr. Gonthier said part of the trouble has been the recent bankruptcies of two carriers — the London-based Lloyd's International and the American-based Universal Airways.

In addition, he said, many of those now stranded had bought return tickets from three Toronto companies under the same ownership — Supertramp.

In London, a Canada House spokesman said officials there are warning people to try for scheduled airline flights home and not another charter.

He said some charter firms apparently are trying to avoid British regulations and are flying Canadians to Zurich or Amsterdam first, but in some cases passengers have merely found themselves stranded there instead.

WORLD BRIEFS

DEATH DRIVERS

PORTSMOUTH, England (CP) — Motorists at this Hampshire coastal town have been sharply-criticized by a local hearse driver for their "suicidal driving." At a council meeting, Anthony Lee complained that drivers in the town "sometimes shake their fists when a hearse holds them up." Lee only retaliates when he's not carrying a coffin. "Then I shout to a bad driver that he'll be in the back of my hearse before long," he said.

SHORTHAND CHORES

LONDON (CP) — Many secretaries in the capital are expected to act as the office charlady as well as their employers' assistants. This is due, says a report by a crack office cleaning outfit, to shoddy workmanship on the part of most cleaning contractors. "Before we take over, secretaries have had to scrub the floors, in some instances, before the day's work gets under way," the cleaning company's chairman said.

BIG UPHEAVAL

LONDON (CP) — Jean Renwick posed rescuers with a hefty problem when the elevator to her fourth-floor apartment broke down. Jean, who weighs 490 pounds, was unable to climb the stairs due to a heart condition. Even a team of firemen were unable to lift her body off the ground. Eventually the elevator was brought down to the ground floor and Jean was winched home in the elevator by hand.

WASHED UP

BRIGHTON, England (CP) — Harold Marsh, of no fixed abode, landed himself in hot water after he obtained a bath in a hotel by posing as a guest. Sussex magistrates jailed Marsh, 24, for a week.

BACKHANDER

LONDON (CP) — Extract from a business meeting addressed by three company heads: "I am grateful to the last speaker," one said. "If has enabled me to cut out the more boring bits of my own speech."

UNEXPECTED FLIGHT

QUEENSBOROUGH, England (CP) — Mechanic Tom Pretty, called by a circus to fix a cannon which projects human cannonballs, found it worked only too well. Pretty was repairing the inside of the barrel when the firing mechanism was accidentally set off. He landed 30 feet away. Taken to a local Lincolnshire hospital for bruises and shock, Pretty commented: "I certainly don't fancy myself as a human cannonball."

Double-Ring Rites At Trinity Baptist

MR. AND MRS. CHRISTOPHER KREBS

A double-ring marriage ceremony solemnized in Trinity Baptist Church, Kelowna, on July 22 united Lornea Gail Radomske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Radomske, Kelowna, and Christopher Mark Krebs, son of Alfred Krebs, Vancouver and the late Mrs. Rosemary Krebs.

Rev. John Wollenberg officiated and organist was Mrs. Albert Gaetz of Victoria.

Given in marriage by her father and her mother, the bride wore a mauve de chrome empire lined dress with bodice of embroidered lace, and the chapel-length train of peau de chrome was also edged in embroidered lace. Her headpiece of white roses held a shoulder-length, four tiered veil of scalloped net. She carried a bouquet of white roses with purple ribbon.

Keeping the traditional rhyme, she wore a pearl drop pendant necklace for "something old"; a pearl and rhinestone pin belonging to her mother for "something borrowed"; and a blue garter.

Mrs. Stanley Spence of Kelowna served as matron of honor for her sister and bridesmaids were, Mrs. Delbert Radomske, a sister-in-law, and Roma Donnelly, both of Kelowna.

Flower girl was Rhonda Fredrick and ring-bearer, Wally Spence, both of Kelowna.

The matron of honor and bridesmaids wore identical floor-length gowns of purple peau de chrome and the flower girl also wore a deep purple floor-length empire-lined dress. Purple bows were entwined in her toss curls and the bridal attendants wore white lace hats. All carried bouquets of white roses and wore birthstone rings, gifts from the bride.

The ring-bearer wore a white tuxedo vest and pants with purple shirt and white tie.

MADE BY MOTHER

The groom's attendants, best man Danny Krebs, Vancouver, and ushers Brian Krebs, Richmond and Delbert Radomske, Kelowna, wore white jackets and dark trousers, with purple and white shirts. Their deep purple ties were made by the bride's mother who also made all the bridal ensembles, including the ring-bearer's outfit.

Receiving the guests at the outdoor garden reception at their Rowcliffe Avenue home, Mrs. Radomske was gracious in a pale green fortrel dress fashioned on princess lines with white accessories. A corsage of white roses contrasted with her costume.

Assisting her in receiving the guests was the groom's grandmother, Mrs. C. Schaefer of Kelowna, who chose a pink fortrel dress for the occasion. A similar corsage completed her ensemble.

GRANDFATHER EMCEE

Master of ceremonies was the bride's grandfather, L. A. Larsen of South Carolina, who came up especially for the happy event. The best man proposed the toast. A three-tiered wedding cake with purple roses and silver leaves centered the bride's table. The two white doves with rings in their bills, which topped the cake, was the one used on the wedding cake of the groom's parents at their wedding.

For a honeymoon trip to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, the bride donned a red, white and blue jump suit with white fortrel vest. Red shoes and a red, white and blue nurse completed her costume. The couple will make their home at 6377 Royal Apartment, Suite 211, Royal Oak Ave., Burnaby 1, B.C.

Out-of-town guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Larsen of Aiken, S. Carolina; Alfred Krebs, Danny Krebs, Debbie Carr and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Krebs, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Brian Krebs, Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. Herb Krebs, Burnaby; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Krebs, Coquitlam; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Krebs, Hollywood, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gaetz, Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Land and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Radomske, all of Kelowna; Mrs. Helen Foy, Bonfleur; Elaine Radomske, Mr. and Mrs. Reg Mains, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Jones and Clarence Radomske, all of Vernon.

Forthcoming Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Stewart of Kelowna are pleased to announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Bonnie Kay to Don Haines of Victoria, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Haines of Kelowna. The wedding will take place on Aug. 26 in Kelowna.

HITHER and YON

A pre-Regatta parade cocktail party hosted by the Canadian National Railway Company at their special cars located on the Water Street tracks started the Regatta program of events for many out-of-town dignitaries who are special guests of the International Regatta Association this week.

Receiving the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spicer of Edmonton, enjoying their first Regatta. Mr. Spicer is CNR Regional vice-president. Also on hand to welcome guests were Area Manager, Alf Street and Mrs. Street of Vancouver; Freight Sales manager for British Columbia, Charles Crook and Mrs. Crook of Vancouver; Industrial Development officer, Ted Lyne and Mrs. Lyne of Vancouver; Allan Menard, public relations officer for British Columbia and his wife Anne-Marie Menard of Vancouver. The Menards are also first time Regatta visitors. Others in attendance at the happiness event included branch manager of freight sales, Gordon Dickson, Vernon.

The Canadian National Railway officials again played host to invited guests at a buffet breakfast on board the CNR cars today and at noon entertained another 35 guests for a luncheon buffet.

Recent visitors from Calgary were Pamela and Heather Johnson who enjoyed a week-long holiday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Johnson of Galtview Road. The girls travelled by bus.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Franz of Pacific Avenue enjoyed a six-week holiday in Europe where they visited relatives and friends, mainly in Germany and Yugoslavia. In Germany they visited with Mr. Franz' mother, Mrs. Anna Franz, his brother, Nicholas Franz and also his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hasur.

ANN LANDERS

Is 'Be Yourself' Old Fashioned?

Dear Ann Landers: What are we coming to when a big airline runs a full-page ad telling people that for $152 they can be somebody else for a weekend?

My mother used to tell me, "be yourself." She emphasized soul values, the wisdom of being a real person—just what you are, nothing more and nothing less. I've tried to raise my three children with that same philosophy. And now I see it's much more desirable to "be somebody else"—laugh and dance barefoot with cordial strangers and fall into the pool.

Have we gone mad? What about it?—Nobody Else

Dear N. E.: One of the central problems of our time is that too many people do not like themselves and they deplore the mundane, monotonous quality of their lives. These unfulfilled people respond to an ad that offers them an opportunity to be somebody else, even if only for a weekend at a cost of $152. Sad, of course, because on Monday morning, they are—the same miserable, inadequate, lonely selves, with the same unresolved problems and nagging insecurities they left on Friday.

Dear Ann Landers: I took my children to the park for a little fun and I came home sick. There were three darling children there, eight, five and two years of age. No one seemed to be with them. As the sun began to set I asked the eight-year-old boy where his Mommy was.

"Oh, she's home," he replied. "But she told us to play nice and come home when it gets dark."

I told him I thought he should take his sisters and go right then because the two-year-old was wet and shaking in the cool breeze—no sweater. He reluctantly agreed. As they started to cross the street I yelled at him to take hold of his little sister's hand. She was running ahead, straight into the traffic. Luckily, the cars stopped and the children got across all right.

I went home shortly after that, found the family in the phone book and called the mother. When I told her I was concerned about her children she said, "on, really?" I asked her if she had ever read about child molesters. She replied, "I don't believe in bringing up children with fear."

Ann, I'm only an ignorant woman, so of course she won't pay any attention to me, but for heaven's sake, please print my letter for that mother and for other mothers who take such terrible chances with their most precious possessions—Disgusted in Grand Rapids

Dear Disgusted: Your letter should make that mother see herself as a woman with an appalling lack of common sense. Thanks for putting it so well.

Dear Ann Landers: Although I've been around, I'm not sure I know the difference between a closet queen, a pink tea queen, a fair princess or a butch number. My husband is a candidate for at least one of the above, maybe all four, and I'd like to express my feelings on this subject.

We've been married for several years and I love him very much. Why should I stop loving him now? He is good to me. Our sex life is not great, but I don't care much for sex so it doesn't matter. I feel he is entitled to his private world, if he wants it. I am happy and don't want to change my life. I'd be miserable without him. I know this is not a perfect setup but it's good enough for me. Do you think I'm a dingbat?—Content in Akron

Dear Ak: What I think is not important. Better to be a contented dingbat than well-adjusted and miserable.

Dear Ann Landers: I have this very good friend who is as sweet a woman as you would want to meet, but she has a personality trait that drives me up the wall. Should I tell her, as an act of friendship?

Whoever she's talking to, within five minutes she takes on that person's personality, speech patterns, facial expressions and hand gestures. Others have noticed it and commented. In the space of one hour at a cocktail party, she can be a southern coquette, a French artist, a midwestern housewife, a German scientist and a Cook County Democrat.

How about it? Should I tell her?—Across The Room

Dear Ac: Leave her alone. In all probability her chameleon behavior is not contrived and she couldn't change if she wanted to. Incidentally, who put together that guest list?

PRIZE WINNER

Mrs. Mel Ames (right) of RR3, Kelowna is the lucky recipient of a Tiffany Chandelier valued at $100.00. Making the presentation is Mrs. Rita Kobelko of Living Lighting. The draw was held in conjunction with the grand opening of the new Living Lighting Store in Orchard Park Shopping Centre.

JACQUELINE GEORGE

How To Keep Cool By K. F. Skaters

Many young Valley people are busy perfecting athletic skills in water skiing and swim competitions and other residents are just trying to seek relief from the heat in the water. However, one group of young people are keeping cool, even though they are working hard. They are all members of the Kelowna Figure Skating Club, who, through the shortage of available ice time in Kelowna during the year, try to make progress during the summer months by attending summer skating schools.

Among the group is 13-year-old Jacqueline George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David George, Kelowna, who has made an outstanding achievement. Jacqueline, a Kelowna Secondary student passed her 7th in Figures and Free Skating and also obtained her senior silver dance, which, if she chose, would permit her to teach. Such a milestone for one so young, is something like a record for the Kelowna club. Jacqueline, who skated this summer at the Foothills arena, Calgary, started skating with the Kelowna club when she was five years old. She plans to start on her gold dances when the Kelowna summer skating school starts on Aug. 10.

Other Kelowna skaters studying at Calgary are Marcy Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Scott, Kelowna and Karen Greenough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Greenough, Kelowna. The latter obtained her third test in figures. Chris Vos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Vos, Kelowna, who skated this summer at the Penticton school, obtained her senior bronze dance and two junior silver dances.

Karol Lee Ehlers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ehlers, who skated with the North Shore Winter Club at Vancouver this summer, passed her 5th figure test and also completed the senior silver dances.

Other skaters away to summer schools are: Julie and David Golinski, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Golinski, Kelowna, at Esquimalt Sports Arena, Victoria; Penni Botham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Botham and Debbie Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richardson, also at Esquimalt; Karen Gerein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gerein, North Shore Winter Club, Vancouver and Patti Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rennie Miller, Arbutus Winter Club, Vancouver.

Funny Fashions Are Now De-Mode Tweeds And Flannels Swing Back

PARIS (AP) — The Paris collections have come to a close, and one thing is clear: any woman who wants to look like a girl will have a good headstart on her fall wardrobe.

Funny fashion now is de-mode. The designers have learned by bad experience that no one wants to invest $1,000 on next season's joke.

So it's time to start demotoballing those tweed skirts and sweaters.

After a period of mixing, the new thing is to match. The little suit is Paris's latest discovery. When it's not in schoolgirl grey flannel it's in tweed.

The skirt—at the knee—may be pleated or A-line, but the fashion avant-garde will be wearing it straight. With it, a long belted jersey sweater at Givenchy or a body-jacket. It has natural shoulders, normal-looking revers and skirts the torso as far as the hipbone.

HOLD RECORD
Dior and Patou hold the record on grey flannel. Dior's suits have flaming colors inside, on the rounded lapels and the brim of the grey flannel hat. Chanel, naturally, has more tweed suits than any other house.

Otherwise, it's camels' hair, Donegal tweed, clan plaids, checks and black. The accents save the clothes from tedium: fuchsia, turquoise, royal blue, red and Kelly green.

If you really have something wrong with your legs, there still are pants, wide, cuffed and pleated at the waist. Ungaro's are the prettiest, with his group of angora jackets gathered at the waist and printed in checks, dots or herring-bones.

Ungaro's easy coats in pastel cashmere and Givenchy's loose coats with cap shoulders over a suit with contrasting sleeves are the ones the private clients won't be able to live without.

B.C. TURKEY is a great cut-up

Many people still think of turkey only in terms of the magnificent whole bird on the holiday table. But this is only part of the story of turkey today. B.C. homemakers are discovering that turkey segments are not only thrifty but filled with possibilities for everyday mealtime use. It takes only a short time to cut a whole turkey into drumsticks, thighs, breasts and other pieces — perfect for barbecues and casseroles. Turkey is ideal for fondue cooking, too — simply cube and dip in light batter. And that's only a beginning. Turkey is a year-round food favorite . . . an economical and highly varied way to enjoy a nutritious meat course. RUTLAND ROYALTY GREET'S REGATTA their welcome from the people of Rutland to the thousands who watched the parade wind its way down Bernard Avenue and Water Street in Kelowna. The Regal Pair were very worthy representatives of the Village of Rutland in the

Zoning By-law Reversed

Despite arguments made at a public hearing Tuesday afternoon, the board of the Regional District of Central Okanagan has decided to proceed with plans to reverse the zoning of land in Rutland.

On application of E. H. Milke of Kelowna, land on Cambie Road was changed from single to multi-family residential for an apartment block. Nothing has been done, so the board decided to reverse the zoning. Wednesday night three readings were given to a bylaw doing this.

At the hearing it was stated the project was delayed by the "tight money" situation, and a request was made for more time.

M. W. Marshall, area representative, said that, on Oct. 6, 1971, his advisory planning commission requested the zoning be changed. At that time the board decided to give the developers more time, but the latter still have done nothing, said chairman W. C. Bennett.

Kenneth Kieran Speaks Here

RUTLAND (Staff) — A meeting in support of Premier W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for South Okanagan, will be held next Wednesday night in Rutland Centennial Hall. Premier Bennett was nominated again last week to contest the Aug. 30 election for the Social Credit party.

Kenneth Kieran, provincial minister of recreation and conservation, will address the meeting at 8 p.m.

Control Of Dogs Function Granted

Letters patent to control dogs have been granted to the Regional District of Central Okanagan. The region applied for this function in eight electoral areas, and the B.C. lieutenant-governor has given his approval.

Next step will be to establish a pound and hire a dogcatcher.

Regional Board Wants Clean-Up

The Regional District of Central Okanagan Board and the South Okanagan Union Board of Health will ask that action be taken to clean up two sewage lagoons near Reid's Corner.

Residents of Rutland and Belgo-Ellison areas have complained about the smell from the lagoons. Waste from the Calona Wines distillery on Richter Street is being deposited there.

After being asked by the regional board to investigate the matter last month, medical officer of health Dr. D. A. Clarke turned the matter over to provincial entomologist J. Proctor. The latter said fruit flies are probably being produced in piles of waste, but this could be overcome by spreading the material to dry. Tall maggots, serpent flies that resemble bees, may be breeding in the lagoons. No mosquitoes could breed there.

The site is not a breeding ground for mosquitoes or house flies, Dr. Clarke reported. Therefore, it does not pose a danger to health from insects, because fruit flies are not considered to carry disease-causing organisms.

Dr. Clarke said the B.C. pollution control branch issued a permit March 21, 1967, to use the property. The unit has sent a letter of protest to the branch, and suggested the board do likewise.

"Considering the vile nature of the waste material involved, the problem will be presented to the secretary of the health board for possible consideration at their next meeting and, possibly, some action will be taken should they consider this an offensive trade as defined in the health act," the letter stated.

"The people are fed up," said M. W. Marshall, representative for Rutland. "It's not fair to haul material from the city there."

This prompted a comment from D. A. Pritchard, Lakeview Heights representative, that another type of waste from Rutland is being dumped in his area.

"All areas are dumping in your area," Mr. Marshall shot back.

FOOTBALL

Eastern Road Rough For Prairie Riders

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders opened their Canadian Football League season on a delightful note for 21,662 fans Wednesday night, beating Saskatchewan Roughriders 22-7.

But, even allowing for a drenching curtain of rain that hung over Lansdowne Park, the game lacked much of the sparkle usually associated with meetings between the two teams.

While Ottawa scored in all four quarters, their game generally turned on Saskatchewan miscues while the western Riders were threatening only twice in the game, scoring once and being held on three downs inside the Ottawa five-yard line late in the fourth quarter.

Saskatchewan coach Dave Skreia laid the blame to a tough early schedule that had his team open the season with two games in 48 hours—they lost 20-17 to the Tiger-Cats in Hamilton Monday.

Had his players been rested, he said after, "it might have been a completely different story."

BAILEY INJURED

He also was concerned about the loss of star end Nolan Bailey with a knee injury early in the game.

"It might be a cartilage Skreia said. "He could be gone for the season."

In Hamilton, Saskatchewan lost defensive halves Ted Dushinski and Gig Perez with knee injuries and sent them home before coming to Ottawa.

Their only touchdown came from veteran fullback George Reed with a one-yard drive into the end zone midway through the second quarter which gave Roughies a short-lived 7-5 lead in the game. Jack Abendscham kicked the convert.

Side-winding placekicker Gerry Organ had given Ottawa a 5-0 first-quarter lead on two singles—missed field goals—and a 23-yard field goal.

CASSATA SCORES

On the series after Reed scored, Ottawa quarterback Rick Cassata hit flanker Billy Cooper with an eight-yard scoring pass before carrying the ball eight yards to score himself early in the third quarter.

Organ rounded out a 10-point night converting both touchdowns and adding a 22-yard field goal at the start of the fourth quarter.

Fumbles and interceptions led to three Ottawa scoring plays.

Defensive half Wayne Tosh picked off two passes by Saskatchewan quarterbacks Ron Lancaster—one leading to Organ's first-quarter field goal—a fullbacker Jerry Campbell nabbed another to set up Organ's fourth-quarter field goal.

Organ's second single followed a bewildering series of fumbles—two by Saskatchewan and one by Ottawa in as many plays—in the first quarter.

Through it all, Ottawa managed only 270 yards of offense compared with 273 for Saskatchewan and picked up 14 first downs compared with 15 for the visitors.

End Rhome Nixon took four Cassata passes for 65 yards. Cassata was good on 13 of 28 attempts for 183 yards and led the Ottawa ground game with 31 yards on six carries.

Lancaster and Bubba Wyche completed 15 of 32 pass attempts for 207 yards—Wyche completed only one of seven for five yards—with flanker Allan Ford their favorite receiver at 88 yards on four catches.

Reed set the Saskatchewan ground attack with 64 yards on 19 carries and took five passes for 28 more.

Both teams now have a week off. Saskatchewan meeting Toronto on Aug. 9 and Ottawa travelling to Montreal to play the Alouettes the next day.

Robinson Leads The Way As Stamps Crunch Bombers

CALGARY — Veteran defensive halfback Larry Robinson scored 18 points Wednesday to pace the Calgary Stampede to a 31-7 win over the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Canadian Football League opener for both clubs here before 22,396 fans.

All three Calgary touchdowns followed pass interceptions. Robinson scored the Stampede's first major when he intercepted a Don Jonas pass and ran 32 yards into the end zone.

He also added field goals from 40 to 25 yards out and kicked singles of 75, 35 and 34 yards along with converts on all three Calgary touchdowns.

The second touchdown for the Grey Cup champion Stampede came when fullback High McKinnis ran 17 yards around the left end in the final quarter.

The major was set up when veteran Stampede linebacker Wayne Harris intercepted a Jonas pass and made it to the goal line, in an effort for his first CFL touchdown, but the play was called back for clipping and the ball was placed on the 18. McKinnis scored on the next play.

Calgary's final touchdown came when Frank Andruski picked off a Jonas pass and ran to the 11-yard line. On the next play, back-up quarterback Jim Lindsey, in his first play in the game, threw 11 yards to Rookie Gary Kerr for the touchdown.

Rookie Don Moulton accounted for Calgary's other point with a 41 yard single in the second quarter.

The lone Winnipeg scoring play came in the third quarter when Jonas threw seven yards to halfback Mack Herron for a major. Jonas added the convert.

McKinnis, who carried Calgary's offensive performance by sometimes dragging a couple of tacklers, ran the ball 19 times for a total of 148 yards. His longest gain was 28 yards.

Winnipeg's Ed Williams and Herron each carried 12 times with Williams going 80 yards and Herron 36.

Bob Kraemer and Thorpe hauled in four passes each for Winnipeg while Kerr and Gerry Shaw caught three for Calgary.

Fisher Makes It Official: Defectors Will Stay Home

TORONTO (CP) — Douglas Fisher, chairman of the board of directors of Hockey Canada, leaned forward to test his microphone and intoned: "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country."

With four exceptions. The good men coming to the aid of their country in the eight-game series against Russia next month will not include Bobby Hull, J. C. Tremblay, Gerry Cheevers or Derek Sanderson.

The four, all of whom have left National Hockey League clubs to join the new World Hockey Association, were finally ruled ineligible Wednesday at a day-long meeting of the Hockey Canada board which voted to uphold the original agreement under which the team was formed last April.

That included a clause stipulating that all members of the team must sign NHL contracts before reporting to Team Canada's training camp Aug. 13.

Hull, Tremblay, Cheevers and Sanderson all were on the list of 35 invited by coach Harry Sinden to join the team. But Hull has left Chicago Black Hawks for Winnipeg Jets of the WHA; Tremblay has quit Montreal Canadiens to sign with Quebec Nordiques and Cheevers and Sanderson have forsaken Boston Bruins in favor of Cleveland Crusaders and Philadelphia Blazers.

NHL president Clarence Campbell told a news conference after the Hockey Canada meeting that legal considerations made it impossible for the league to agree to inclusion of WHA players on the team.

"Well, I finally found your ball. But we seem to have lost the golf course!"

Top Summer Swim Clubs Here For Regatta Meet

Over 500 swimmers from various parts of B.C. are entered in this year's Regatta swim meet taking place on Friday and Saturday at the aquatic pool in City Park.

The invitational meet will hold heats on both days starting at 9 a.m. with the finals starting at approximately 2:30 p.m. There is a total of 82 events to be run in the two-day meet including both relays and individual races.

Meet chairman, Bruce Clarke, who is also coach of the Ogo-pogo Swim Club in Kelowna, says that many of the top summer clubs in B.C. are entered in the meet. Included are Kamloops summer swim club who are the provincial champions. Also ranked high are the Burnaby, Richmond and North Shore clubs who are all sending over 50 competitors.

The meet is open to strictly summer clubs, which means the swimmers can only practice from May 1 to Sept. 30 in order to qualify.

But coach Bruce Clarke feels that his club will do very well against the strong visiting clubs. "I feel we have some of the finest swimmers in B.C. on our club, particularly in our girls 11-12 years old bracket," Clarke said.

Four outstanding swimmers from this bracket have already proved that they're the best in B.C. by coming first in the provincial finals held in Vancouver's Empire Pool last year. The swimmers, Joanne Ritchie, Michelle Trooley, Sheryl Ramsell and her sister Janice, will not only compete in the relay at the Regatta meet, but are also expected to finish strong in the individual events.

Both Ritchie and Trooley will compete in the back stroke event, while Sheryl Ramsell will enter the back stroke and butterfly races with her sister Janice in the free style.

Other strong contenders for the Ogo-pogo club include Sue Dedinsky and Ginny Wilson who will compete in the breast stroke event and belong to the under eight years of age bracket.

In the girls 15-16 age group Marianne Wahl, who is assistant coach of the Ogo-pogo club, is expected to do well in her individual events while Bill Gale, competing in the same age bracket is a strong contender in the back stroke and free style.

The Ogo-pogo club has been practicing over the summer months in the aquatic pool under the watchful eyes of coaches Wahl and Clarke. The club holds three practice sessions a day, with each session running roughly an hour.

The club's most recent major preparation for the meet was their competing in the Tonasket, Washington, individual meet last weekend, in which they placed second.

"We were only 39 points from first place which shows our swimmers are reaching their peaks and will be fully prepared for the Regatta meet."

Although the Ogo-pogo Club has an overwhelming strength in girls' 11-12 bracket, they do have a problem of not having steady, strong competitors in some of the other age brackets.

"For example, in the Tonasket meet our club placed five finalists in the girls' eight and under backstroke event but had no competitors in the 9-10 girls' events," Clarke said.

"Our success on being overall winner of the meet will partially depend upon how some of our weaker swimmers make out," he added.

Cesar Licking Chops Following Hit Fest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cesar Cedeno who continues to feed on National League pitching, had a feast at home plate Wednesday night.

"I wasn't thinking about hitting for the cycle, I was just trying to get a hit," said Cedeno after drilling a single, double, triple and home run to lead Houston Astros past Cincinnati Reds, 10-1.

Cedeno had a double in the first inning, a two-run homer in the third, an RBI single in the fifth and a run-scoring triple in the eighth and fattened his league-leading batting average to .353.

In the other National League games, St. Louis Cardinals beat Pittsburgh Pirates 10-5 in a 6½ inning, rain-shortened affair; Philadelphia Phillies trimmed New York Mets 5-3; San Diego Padres beat Atlanta Braves 5-0; back San Francisco Giants 12-11 and Chicago Cubs downed Montreal Expos 5-4 in a game cut short after six innings by rain.

The contest was the scheduled opener of a twilight doubleheader.

CINCY ACE TRUMPED

With Cedeno blasting his 15th homer of the year, the Astros came up with three runs in the third off Cincinnati ace Gary Nolan to give Don Wilson a comfortable working margin. The big Houston right-hander pitched a six-hitter.

Bernie Carbo's three-run homer capped a 10-hit, nine-run rally in the fourth inning as St. Louis beat Pittsburgh, Bob Gibson, not pitching one of his better games, picked up his 12th victory in 18 decisions.

The Mets had a chance to cut a game off the Pirates' 6½-game lead in the East Division but blew it when ace Tom Seaver lost a 3-2 lead going into the ninth against Philadelphia.

A single by Larry Bowa and run-scoring double by Tommy Hutton tied the game for the Phillies and then the visitors won it on Deron Johnson's pinch-hit, two-run homer.

Fred Norman pitched a seven-hitter and Garry Jesteadt drove in four runs with a homer and a double to lead San Diego over Atlanta.

Bill Russell crashed a two-out homer off reliever Jim Barr in the ninth inning to pull Los Angeles over San Francisco. Willie Davis knocked in five runs for the Dodgers with a home run and two singles.

J. C. Martin's bounce with the bases loaded produced the winning run in the fifth inning as the Cubs beat the Expos.

Brewers Drown Tigers Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain or shine, Milwaukee Brewers are enjoying life in Detroit.

The tail-enders in the American League East Division humiliated the first-place Tigers Tuesday night, pounding out 10 hits in a rout before a downpour mercifully halted proceedings after six innings.

On Wednesday, having skipped pregame batting practice, the suddenly fearsome Brewers collected 18 hits and thrashed the Tigers 13-1. Starter Jim Lonzburg, 10-5, even contributed a couple of singles to a seven-run Milwaukee rally in the third inning.

"It's not that often I get a chance to wave so many runners around third base," said Jackie Moore, Brewers' coach.

In other American League games, Chicago White Sox beat California Angels 10-0, Texas Rangers topped Minnesota Twins 4-1 and Oakland Athletics blanked Kansas City Royals 5-0.

New York downed Boston 5-1 in the first game of a day-night doubleheader. The Red Sox took the second game 7-4.

Baltimore blanked Cleveland 7-0 in a twilight opener, then the Indians downed the Orioles 6-3 in the nightcap.

FALMER WINS 14TH

Jim Falmer pitched a four-hitter for his 14th victory and Boog Powell, Bobby Grich and Johnny Oates hit homers for Baltimore in the first game at Cleveland. In the second, Chris Chambliss blasted a three-run homer and Roy Foster hit a two-run shot for the Indians.

FINAL FRY

LONDON (CP) — One of the world's oldest fish-and-chips shops has at last cashed in its chips—it has been pulled down to make way for a new block of apartments. The century-old shop was built in the early 1860s in London's East End and survived the wartime blitz when business continued as normal.

The only Government in Canada to help people buy homes.

... already over 100,000 families helped

While others talked about the housing crisis, this Government acted ... by introducing a unique home-ownership assistance program in 1966.

The program gives buyers of new homes the choice of a $1,000 Home Acquisition Grant or a fully-insured $5,000 Second Mortgage Loan — at interest rates lower than on Federal N.H.A. first mortgages. There's help in buying an older home, too, for British Columbia tenants who have rented accommodation at least 2 years. This can take the form of a $500 Home Acquisition Grant or a $2,500 Second Mortgage Loan, again at low interest.

Since 1966, over 100,000 British Columbians have received outright grants or second mortgage loans — and new applications are being processed at the rate of 3,000 per month. And as home owners these people enjoy another outstanding benefit: the Provincial Home-owner Grant, which currently amounts to $185, to help reduce their annual property taxes.

This Government believes every family should have the opportunity to own a home — and we're backing up that belief with direct assistance to a growing number of British Columbia families.

FIRST FINISHERS

First finishers in Wednesday's 100-mile Regatta water ski marathon roar past the finish line off Hot Sands Beach. The event was an endurance race and no individual winners emerged, but the top five finishers will split the entry fees and receive trophies. First skiers to hit the beach were Rocky Hoyer, 18, and Rick Mason, 15, both of Hatzic Lake, B.C. Sporting a big grin, but obviously tired after the long run, Hoyer said, "It wasn't too bad. I've done a little practicing and I'm pretty sure I could have lasted another hour at least." Their boat was driven by Bob Popil.

Three other skiers crossed the finish close on the tail of the pilot boat (which they could not pass). Kelowna's Glenn Magark, 21, was behind a boat driven by Alex McLeod; John Souch, of Rutland, behind Chris Jaegli's boat; and Glen Attree, of Kelowna, behind his brother, Ken. Two other Kelowna skiers, David Chapman and Scott Bridger, managed to go further than anyone else, but it didn't do them any good. Chapman, 17, and Bridger, 19, were doing just fine until they reached Squally Point on the return run from Vernon, but instead of making the turn, flew past the referee boat and kept on going for an extra six miles. Passing the referee boat had disqualified them from the race. Seven boats and ten skiers left Hot Sands when the race began at 1:30 p.m., but by the time they'd reached the first turn near the Vernon Yacht Club, that number had been reduced to six boats and nine skiers. Several had left Kelowna using two skis, but all returned salmon. Skiers had to complete the entire course, remaining between the referee and pilot boats (located at Vernon and Squally Point). They were allowed to fall with no penalty points, provided they kept ahead of the referee boat at all times. There was no limit on the number of skiers behind any one boat and all forms of water skis and other attachments, provided they didn't touch the boat. Violating basic rules of safety were grounds for disqualification.

Ladies' PGA Decides To Place Sandra Palmer On Probation

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Sandra Palmer has been placed on probation for a year by the executive committee of the Ladies' Professional Golf Association.

The action against Miss Palmer resulted from statements she made last week in Atlanta in the controversial Jane Blalock case.

Miss Palmer said she thinks Miss Blalock is innocent of the accusations the LPGA made against her in suspending her one year on May 31. She added she believes that one of the affidavits accusing Miss Blalock of illegally moving her ball is false.

Bud Erickson, a committee member, said Miss Palmer "is free to have thoughts and beliefs in this case."

"However, we believe it is a violation of ethics to accuse a member of lying and saying one of the affidavits is false."

Miss Blalock sued the LPGA for $15 million and got a federal court order allowing her to continue to play pending outcome of the lawsuit.

Canada's U.S. Dollar Stocks Drop For First Time In Months

OTTAWA (CP)—For the first time in six months, Canada's official exchange reserve holdings of U.S. dollars declined last month, the finance department reported Tuesday.

U.S. dollar holdings declined to $4.51 billion from $4.54 billion at the end of July, and total exchange reserves declined to $6.19 billion from nearly $6.22 billion.

With the Canadian dollar rising in value in international exchange markets, the government has been trying to solve the problem by buying U.S. dollars. Last month, there was a net sale of $27.3 million in U.S. dollars as a result of the finance department's intervention in foreign exchange markets.

Some of the intervention actions also took place last month in

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

'Wolf' Disease Comes In Pairs

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We lost our 18-year-old son with this lupus disease last year. The shock (the disease was unknown around here, I think) has us all stunned. Can you explain a little about it?—Mrs. J.N.

The disease, lupus erythematosus (LOOP—us-air-i-thee-muh-TOE-sus) is pretty much unknown—except to those who have it.

It is one of the collagen diseases, so named because they attack connective tissues, including the skin. The cause is not known. Hence there is no specific cure, although cortisone-type drugs and anti-inflammatory drugs often keep it quiescent for years.

It is important to know that there are two types of lupus. One is discoid lupus. It is essentially a skin disease and the patient is not otherwise ill. The skin rash often features a "butterfly" pattern across the nose and cheeks, which once reminded somebody of the appearance of a wolf. Hence the name "lupus" or "wolf." The discoid type is not dangerous unless (in one to five per cent of cases) it progresses into another type—systemic lupus erythematosus, or SLE.

SLE can affect any part of the body: kidneys, liver, heart, lungs, nerves. It often includes arthritis or muscle pain, along with anemia, fatigue, digestive upsets and so on. A nasty disease.

It can indeed be fatal—although it varies greatly in intensity. Many patients get along tolerably well year after year, especially if treatment subdues infections and keeps the disease under control. In short, don't take lupus lightly—but don't assume that it is a hopeless situation, either.

Obviously a great deal must yet be learned about it. I was asked, recently, whether there was a society devoted specifically to that disease. I said I didn't know of any, but I have since been told of a number that are active.

The federal government is supporting research. Of the large voluntary health groups, the Arthritis Foundation is most deeply involved because lupus is closely related to arthritis. It is supporting research in various parts of the country.

Other groups called to my attention as doing research on lupus include Universities of Miami, Virginia, Cincinnati and Pennsylvania, the Toledo Clinic in Ohio, and others.

There's a Constance Chapman Belder Memorial Fund at the Mayo Foundation in Rochester, Minn., devoted to lupus. The Cleveland Clinic has a lupus fund and research project in its department of dermatology.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: With so many women taking hormones for the menopause and sometimes longer, just what are the symptoms of too much estrogen—L.E.H.

Chiefly soreness of the breasts, and vaginal spotting or bleeding.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you define a "brittle" diabetic?—Mrs. P.D.

Some patients with diabetes are known as stable diabetics. That is, the sugar level remains reliably under control with the usual requirements of diet and medication.

Other patients are subject to abrupt sugar fluctuations (high and low) without much warning. They are "brittle" diabetics.

Opening lead—king of clubs. Assume you get to five diamonds on the bidding shown and West leads the king of clubs. How should you play the hand? Of course, you are expected to play on the basis that you see only the North-South cards, not all four hands as shown in the diagram.

Strangely enough, your first and most important play is to discard a spade on the king of clubs! Once you do this, you cannot be defeated.

Let's say West continues with the ace. You ruff, play a spade to the ace, ruff a spade high, cross to dummy again with a trump and ruff another spade, thus establishing three spade tricks in dummy.

When you get back to dummy with a trump, you discard the K-J-4 of hearts on the J-10-7 of spades and wind up making the contract with an overtrick. This comes to a neat 950 points.

Of course, you wouldn't make the overtrick if West cashed the ace of hearts at trick two, but that would not be a great hardship to bear.

Now let's suppose you ruffed the king of clubs at trick one, which certainly seems to be the natural thing to do. In that event you would finish down one, assuming proper defense.

At some later point East would take the lead with a spade and return a heart—and down the chute you'd go.

The hand demonstrates again that one must occasionally make an unusual play in order to keep the dangerous opponent in this deal, East—out of the lead. It is easy enough to discard a spade on the opening lead; the hard part is to think of it.

Mr. Stearns, when serving in the Canadian army at Wells, participated in church parades Sundays as the troop marched from Wells to Barkerville to attend church service. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hess at Prince George, former residents of Rutland, and stopped at Kamloops to visit friends and relatives before returning home.

"We felt it would be useful to get an exchange of views and experiences from different governments. And we did this, although it is fair to say there was little unanimity."

Premier Ed Schreyer of Manitoba said there was no single issue—such as the right to strike—which resulted in disagreements. "There were many viewpoints on a complex issue," he said.

Just prior to the noon break, when the premiers entered a calvacade of cars for a Government House luncheon, Premier Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island issued a statement on non-resident land ownership.

Saskatchewan Premier Allan Rock said there were widely different viewpoints on a municipal question, but that there appeared to be a common view that the jurisdiction of the provinces should be respected.

"There is no doubt that the federal government has a useful role to play in urban affairs, but we are asking that our constitutional rights be respected. I think the provinces have some reasons for concern."

Ontario Premier William Davis said only that he was satisfied with the morning talks, declined to go into details on the municipal question because the premiers had decided to sue a position paper, probably Friday.

SEEK CLARITY
Sources said the premiers showed no inclination to impede a fall tri-level conference on urban affairs but that they wanted their positions spelled out clearly—that municipalities to the creatures of the provinces—prior to the meetings. The premiers spent an hour talking about collective bargaining in the public service, finally agreeing that no communiqué could be issued.

Asked whether this meant a breakdown on the subject, Mr. Morgan said there was never any intention to reach a common viewpoint.

Water For Area Closer Says Regional District

Provision of water for the Benvoulin, South Pandosy and Orchard Park areas moved a step closer to reality Wednesday night.

The board of the Regional District of Central Okanagan authorized Interior Engineering Services Ltd. to use a report on a source in the KLO-Hall roads area to update a report made Aug. 11, 1969. The first report included the Okanagan Mission area, now getting its own water supply. This step will cost about $1,500.

The first report was based on getting water from Okanagan Lake. However, recent investigations indicate the possibility of using other sources.

The money would come from the regional district research fund. Ald. William Kane, alternate city representative, opposed spending money from this fund. He suggested asking residents now if they want the system.

"We should have all the facts before we ask the people," suggested chairman W. C. Bennett.

On another matter concerning water, a bylaw to amend the zoning bylaw to permit essential uses such as pump houses and warehouses by public authorities in rural or residential areas was referred to the technical planning committee for reconsideration.

The amendment would allow these facilities if they were set back 50 feet. Eain Lamont, director for Okanagan Mission, said this would make it more difficult and costly for present water systems to improve their facilities.

House Numbering System Not Possible In District

With no financial help from the post office or B.C. highways department, houses and businesses in electoral areas within the Regional District of Central Okanagan will stay unnumbered.

Some time ago Kelowna postmaster J. A. Arcand requested the district to undertake a numbering system. He said this would help the post office provide better service to the growing district.

The administration and finance committee discussed the matter with Mr. Arcand and A. L. Freebairn, district highways engineer. The highways department now looks after naming streets, but no agency is responsible for numbering.

The committee estimated it would cost $10,000-$15,000 a year. The post office and the highway department refused financial help, but said local officers would help.

"Since the two groups that would receive the most benefit won't help with the cost, I don't think we should do it," suggested James Stuart, representative for east and south-east Kelowna.

"I second that," said Ald. William Kane, alternate city representative. Other members agreed.

"The board will have to look at this again," warned chairman W. C. Bennett.

Scouters Return From Camping

Seven scouts from the 6th St. Paul United Church Troop, headed by scoutmaster Stuart Malcolm, returned home Sunday following an eight-day camping jaunt at Busch Creek, on Adams Lake north of Chase, B.C.

Some 33 scouts and 11 scouters attended the camp which was designed to promote the "out" in scout and was highlighted by a four-mile overnight camping trip during which boys built their own bivouac and prepared their own meals under supervision of camp chief scoutmaster, Raymond Wallace.

Scouts also built a raft and sailed half a mile across the bay to set up a supper camp before returning back to base, and also prepared shishkabobs for lunch another day, using the same campfire for a pit roast supper.

The last day of camp was devoted to land and water athletic events, with other activities during the trip including gun-handling, archery, motor biking, water skiing, sailing, canoeing and swimming.

Local scouts attending were John Welder, Tim Tahara, Brian and Ian McKenzie, Robert Strangward, Terry Turner and Colin Bealstro. Other points represented included Kamloops and Brocklehurst.

Once Honored Architect Now A Target For Abuse

LONDON (CP) — Sir Basil Spence, designer of Coventry Cathedral and one of Britain's most eminent architects, is no stranger to controversy over his modernistic buildings, but now he wonders what has hit him.

Only 10 years ago, he recalled in an interview, he was awarded the exclusive Order of Merit and a string of honorary degrees—including one from the University of Manitoba—and was "very much in demand."

Now he finds himself the target of abuse—even in the gentlemanly surroundings of the House of Lords—branding his latest work on the London skyline as "shocking," "hideous," "a monstrosity," "a dinosaur" and "a defacement."

"I am mortally wounded at being rejected by this criticism," said Spence, 65 in August, whose earlier works included the distinctive British pavilion at Montreal's Expo 67.

DREW CRITICS' FIRE
The structure which has drawn fire from critics as diverse as cartoonist Osbert Lancaster, novelist Graham Greene and a former Conservative minister of works is Spence's replacement for Queen Anne's Mansions, a frowning Victorian monolith which dominated the south side of St James' Park for nearly a century.

Not that anyone loved the old building—indeed, in 1888, when the 154-foot-high monster first loomed over 18th-century Queen Anne's Gate, the outcry was such that a height limit was imposed on all new buildings in London. This has long since been repealed.

However, when plans for Spence's building, which touches 186 feet at its highest point, began to seep out, the critics sharpened their pens. First into the attack was cartoonist Lancaster, creator of Maudie Littlehampton and her aristocratic friends in his Daily Express front-page spot.

CALLED 'APPALLING'
Lancaster described the new structure, with its corrugated Portland stone facade and slope-roofed towers, as an "appalling combination of an old-fashioned Hollywood set for the fall of Babylon with a cluster of provincial French water-towers."

Spence retorted that the cartoonist's drawing misrepresented his building and suggested he should stick to Maudie Littlehampton.

But more voices soon joined the chorus of abuse. In a House of Lords debate, Conservative Lord Coleraine, son of Andrew Bonar Law, Britain's only Canadian-born prime minister, dubbed the building a "dinosaur" and a "monstrosity."

Lord Buckett, a movie producer, said it reminded him of a gigantic gorilla in a science-fiction film, looming above a city. Labor peer Lord Strabolgi complained that "this great bulk" would dominate one of the loveliest parks in Europe.

Several critics got in a side-swipe at Spence's other controversial parkside structure, the rebuilt Knightsbridge Barracks which rears a skyscraping tower over the southern boundary of Hyde Park, a skyline formerly composed only of trees.

WROTE IRATE LETTER
Novelist Graham Greene weighed in with an irate letter to the weekly Spectator in which he went so far as to suggest that the buildings Spence had "inflicted" on London brought the entire Order of Merit "into disrepute."

Spence was made a member of the sought-after order in 1962 for his work on Coventry Cathedral.

Lord Molson, minister of works in a former Conservative government, said in the Lords debate that Spence would "go down in history as the man who perpetrated the defacement" of two royal parks. In a newspaper interview later, he said if it had been possible for him to foresee the "shocking" designs for Knightsbridge Barracks and Queen Anne's Mansions, he would never have chosen Spence to design the new British embassy in Rome.

Although he has not yet seen the Rome building, Molson said pictures of it led him to feel he had made a mistake in choosing an architect of such "modernistic outlook."

BUILT IN INDIA
Spence, a London architect since 1932, began his career assisting the famous Sir Edward Lutyens in designing the Viceroy's house at Delhi, India. He attributes the latest storm of protest to the public's "neurotic attitude" towards preservation.

Tied in with the now-fashionable concern for the environment, there is a strong new mood against jarring modern intrusions into the fast-eroding profile of old London. It has come too late, however, to prevent many architectural tragedies, including the ravaged Georgian squares of Bloomsbury, now gashed with concrete and car parks.

Spence is particularly hurt at accusations that his Queen

Anne's Mansions building—which will house civil servants—is out of tune with London.

PROUD OF DESIGN
"I am very proud of my design," he said in a lengthy interview in The Times. "This is a very important area of London which I treated most seriously. . . . There is a sort of London character which I felt should be translated into modern terms because I am a modern architect."

The latest torrent of criticism closely follows another Spence controversy over a new housing scheme for his own part of London, a charming early Victorian backwater of villas and tree-lined roads in northern Islington. The scheme was eventually scrapped at government level.

The architect who so admires bulk and mass in buildings lives in a delicate Georgian home in Islington, a point rarely lost on visiting interviewers.

"My house was built then," he explains patiently. "I am being commissioned to build now."

CHURCH CHARITY

LONDON (CP) — The Church of England will need an extra £22 million a year by 1975 to pay its way—and most of this will have to come from charity donations. At the church's General Synod, Very Rev. Laurence Fleming, Dean of Windsor, said only one-third of the money required can come from the church commissioners. Part of the extra money "should be used to increase clergymen's pay to an average of £1,700 ($4,200) a year," the dean added. They now get about £1,300.

Offshore Mineral Rights Topic For Premiers In East

HALIFAX (CP) — Canada's five eastern premiers have agreed to forge a united front with which they soon hope to confront the federal government on offshore mineral resources.

Determined to settle the lingering question of offshore ownership and royalties at the political level rather than through court action, the premiers Robert Bourassa of Quebec, Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick, Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia, Alex Campbell of P.E.I. and Frank Moores of Newfoundland, Wednesday agreed that "the matter of offshore minerals can be settled amicably by the provincial and federal governments."

It will be the first time Premier Bourassa has joined his Atlantic counterparts for discussion on offshore mineral rights. He was not scheduled to arrive here until later in the day. Vice-Premier Gerald Levesque was representing the Quebec government until his arrival.

Ownership of mineral rights has taken on importance in the last year, at least for Nova Scotia, with the discovery of natural gas and oil on Sable Island, 175 miles east of here.

At a meeting of Atlantic premiers and Mr. Levesque in June, it was decided to reject a federal government offer of a 50-50 split of mineral royalties between Ottawa and the provinces.

Instead, the premiers said they would assert ownership of offshore mineral rights, but would be prepared to discuss with Ottawa "delegation of certain aspects of administering" the resources.

Premier Moores said last week his province claims full ownership and jurisdiction of the resources on her continental shelf.

His statement came in the wake of a disclosure by Premier Regan that he had received a letter from Prime Minister Trudeau. The letter, the premier said, stated that the federal government still felt that the rights belonged to Ottawa.

In the past, Mr. Trudeau and other federal officials have said that unless a political settlement is forthcoming, the matter could be referred to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Premier Regan said in an interview Tuesday he believed the federal position was much more "flexible" than most people think.

"I can see reason for optimism for a political settlement," he said. Ottawa had made "no hard and fast" offer since its 50-50 proposal.

Premiers Regan and Moores held informal talks Tuesday night at Province House, site of the annual premiers meeting. Neither would comment on the discussion. Premiers Hatfield and Campbell were scheduled to arrive early today.

River Rat States Some Reasons

DAWSON CITY, Y.T. (CP) — The last of the Yukon River Rats, a former logger from New Brunswick, knows a trapper who keeps his big toe in a pickle jar. He is one of the few licensed captains still sailing the broad, brown 2,000-mile-long waterway.

His name is Dick Stevenson, a hunting and fishing guide who also operates a tourist boat out of Dawson City on a river that once boasted a huge fleet of 250 sternwheelers that sailed from the Yukon headwaters near Whitehorse to St. Michael on the Bering Sea coast.

Today, the wreckage of that fleet dots the banks of the river. There is a steamboat graveyard only two miles downriver from this community of 600 that contains the rotting hulks of no less than five of the giant specially-constructed riverboats.

The SS Keno, now up on the beach here and rebuilt as a tourist attraction, was the last sternwheeler on the Yukon.

HOPES FOR TOURISTS

Captain Stevenson has long-range plans for a sternwheeler cruise ship once the tourist traffic justifies the expense—"and that shouldn't be too far away."

"I came to Dawson in 1956 because back in New Brunswick the rivers were polluted, the trout streams were fished out, the woods were disappearing and the cities were closing in," said the 42-year-old river captain, who comes from Nictau, N.B.

"Ever since I bought my boat a few years ago, people around here have been calling me the River Rat. But I got my captain's papers last year—so it's Captain River Rat now."

Captain Stevenson's vessel is the Yukon Lou, powered by a diesel engine that also turns a tiny paddlewheel which graces the stern, although the wheel is more for effect than locomotion.

Captain Stevenson, a one-time territorial government wolf poisoner, orders his captain's hats from Sweden. He also wears an oil-smeared moose-hide vest cured and tanned by the Indians at Old Crow, Y.T., which has his name in bead-work on the back.

"But I'm changing my image. I sent down to Edmonton a while ago to get me a genuine steamboat captain's uniform to go with the hat. But when it arrived, it looked more like a bus driver's uniform. Now I've ordered the real thing—from a costume company in Hollywood."

LIVES IN LOUSETOWN

The first mate is a man named Roger who lives alone across the river in Lousetown, Dawson's long-deserted red light district.

Roger collects residual cheques from the BBC for a TV movie he made last winter in Whitehorse.

The second mate is a young girl from New York City who moved to Dawson last summer with her husband. Total strangers to the North, they took over a tumble-down cabin in an abandoned Indian settlement downriver and somehow managed to survive the winter. Nobody in Dawson knows how they did it.

There are tales to tell too about some of the other people who prowled the river—for instance, the trapper who keeps his big toe in the pickle jar.

"The toe? Yeah, it was sort of unusual," said Captain Stevenson. "He froze his foot one winter and it looked as though gangrene was setting in from the frostbite. He was too far from hospital so a couple of friends came over and sawed the toe off for him."

"But he got real fond of it, living in his cabin all alone, so he put it in a quart sealer and pickled it. After all, he couldn't bury it—the ground was as hard as a rock and it was 40 below at the time."

"And when spring came around he had grown kind of attached to it. He's got himself a real conversation piece up there on his mantle."
